A telescopic handler – telehandler, otherwise known as a Manitou is a mobile lifting plant using a telescopic boom fitted with a lifting attachment. An Employer has a “duty of care” to provide their staff with a safe workplace.

This unit covers conducting telescopic materials handler operations in the resources and infrastructure industries. This course provides participants with the necessary knowledge and skills required to safely attend to lifting operations.

Course Delivery

A learner guide and review questions will be provided to the student prior to course commencement. To fulfil the training requirements for this course, the student must read through this, complete the review questions and bring both with them on the day. The course consists of face-to-face theory, mathematical and practical training.

Assessment is conducted through a combination of practical demonstration and verbal or written questioning.

Training can be completed in one of two ways:
 Option 1. Full Course - includes theory and practical training and assessment for up to 3 days depending on experience (if the student can produce sufficient evidence of previous experience this course can reduce timeframe to 1 day).

Students may choose to undertake workplace training - After 1 day of formal training, students are issued with a logbook to record their practical workplace training (40 hours) under the supervision of a licensed operator. When the student is ready, a final assessment will be undertaken. Final assessment must be completed within 12 months.
